

OUR JUDICIAL DISTRICT.

Our special artist has prepared for us a diagram of the proposed Judicial District in which Montgomery is to be placed. Isn't it a beauty? Elliott County was to be included in this district, but for some unexplained reason we suppose the committee had a good one—it is to be left out, we are told. The attention of the committee is respectfully called to the hand some appearance their work makes. They have great reason to be proud of it. It is not like its looks; it's made of a job. A murrain on the thing, we don't like its looks; it's made of a job. Look at the length of it from the extreme west line of Montgomery to the eastern boundary of Magoffin or Carter and then see the distance north and south across Menifee or the narrow neck of Carter. "Oh, it is a dale," and reflects credit on the brain that evolved it. Gentlemen, of the committee, we congratulate you on the fidelity you are displaying to the trust the people have reposed in you.

THE CONGRESSIONAL VACANCY.

The death of Congressman Kendall, which cast such a widespread gloom over this district, leaves a vacancy that it now becomes the duty of the people to fill. It is necessary that the most careful disqualification should be exercised in order that the most available man may be selected to represent us at the National Capital. There is no difficulty in selecting a man who would be glad to accept the position, with its attendant salary, but to secure one who possesses the necessary energy, capacity and general knowledge of the needs of the district is not so light a task. We are informed the number of those who would thus sacrifice their private interests for the public good is legion and that almost every county in the district has one.

"No sir, you didn't seem so—about the majority of these. We have but a slight acquaintance and some of them are almost totally unknown to us. Without doubt some among them are good men. There are others whom the people are urging to make this race, and who are loath to put forward any claims they may have on the people of the district. Among the latter class is our fellow-townsmen Hon. C. R. Brooks, a man in every way fitted to fill the vacant place.

Young, brilliant, active, full of energy, in keen touch with the people and their wants, a lawyer of ability and a man of industry, full of health and physical vigor. We know of no man in the district who so fully meets the requirements for the position. Politically he is a Democrat, who has made the principles and practices of the party his study all his life long. Yet in the face of the fact that his friends here and elsewhere are bringing all the pressure possible to bear on him, to announce himself as a candidate, will give no assurance that he will make the race. He was, it will be remembered, the anti-slavery candidate against Mr. Kendall for the Democratic nomination and was barely defeated, yet without one thought of bitterness he threw himself into the canvas for Kendall as if the race were his own. We wish we had the authority to present the name of Cabell B. Brooks to the Democrats of the district as their standard bearer. Should he agree to announce himself and the people send him to Congress he would make a Representative of whom we might well be proud. The election, however, has not yet been called by the Governor and when this is done we may then have the pleasure of presenting Mr. Brooks' name to the Democrats of the district.

David B. Hill, of New York, can not, in justice to the party be nominated as the head of the Democratic National ticket. Local elections all over New York are in proof of this. The fight is almost universally in favor of Cleveland with results against the Hill following. There is but one construction on this: that Hill is not acceptable to his own State, and should he be nominated he would be a political nonentity in New York while other States just as necessary in an electoral count would be neglected. The National Convention can not afford to nominate either Hill or Cleveland.

The Praise, the Glory, the Honor Due to the Persistent Efforts of J. S. Spaulding, Elmyra, N. Y., Assisted by

THE MT. STERLING COMMERCIAL CLUB.

About four weeks ago, Mr. J. S. Spaulding, of Elmyra, N. Y., a gentleman of brain and nerve, who, for many years, has been actively engaged in showing to capitalists the rich resources along the proposed line of the C. & W., which is to traverse the State from Cincinnati through the bluegrass belt, tobacco, hemp, corn, pigs, and stock producing section, taking the "Mound,"³ of Eastern Kentucky, penetrating the rugged mountains, and, with a wealth of resources, was in the city with the view of arranging for organization immediately and beginning operations. By consultation with J. M. Bigstaff, H. J. Trimble and Adam Baum, President and Directors of the Executive Board and members of the Commercial Club, including some of our leading lawyers, it was agreed that he should open subscription books for stock and obtain the amount required by the charter in order to organize.

After receiving data as regard to local business, shipments to and from towns along the proposed line, he returned to New York, opened books for subscription, and in a few hours the required stock was taken, and a permanent organization was entered into with Mr. Allison of London, Eng. President. Foreign capitalists are thoroughly acquainted with this route and its various connections, and Mr. Spaulding informs us that both English and German capitalists are ready to put down money sufficient for the construction and equipment of the C. & W.

With this road completed our people, we mean the people of Kentucky, would be largely benefited. Utilized amounts of the finest timber from native forests, inexhaustible fields of bituminous, cannel⁴ and coking coal, of the highest grades, in addition to this, the best grades of iron ore, the finest fire-stone, flint clay, &c., are found, and would be developed, making this the best paying line in this country; and of this capitalists are fully aware, and are, therefore, willing to put their money into the investment.

Five years ago the charter of this road, being limited, was about to expire, when, in consideration of the benefits to be derived by the State, and an agreement on the part of Mr. Spaulding and his associates that Mt. Sterling should be a fixed point through which this road should be constructed, the Mt. Sterling Commercial Club, through its committee and at its own expense, made persistent efforts and continued labor, succeeded, with slight amendments, in perpetuating it. Mr. Spaulding had spent years—the better part of his life and a nice little fortune—in attempting to build this road, and arriving at this point the Commercial Club gave timely assistance. The finishing touch, the permanent organization was effected by the binding efforts of Mr. Spaulding, and hence to him and the Commercial Club, the Executive Committee and the friends at this point the praise, the glory and honor is due. From Mr. Spaulding's private statements, as well as public utterances, we are warranted in the belief that this road will be built, and within a very short time. Men and money are the only requisites, and the millions of English and German money can supply them. A letter from Mr. Spaulding to Col. J. M. Bigstaff, published in the last issue of the Sentinel-Democrat, is of such interest that we reproduce it for the benefit of our readers:

"SPENCER, TRINITY COUNTY, N. Y., February 27, 1892."

"COL. J. M. BIGSTAFF, Mt. Sterling, Ky.—Dear Sir: I consider it a privilege to put my name to a stock subscription for the common stock for the Charleston, Kentucky and Western Railroad Company. I found that the dimensions taken to get men to put their names to a stock subscription for a certain amount, which is nothing less than signing a note due on demand, and only about $250,000 have been subscribed. The subscribers have been a company by electing a President, Vice-President and Board of Directors in accordance with the terms of the charter and under the best legal advice. Mr. Allison, of London, is at the head of the C. & W. enterprise. Yours truly,

J. S. SPAULDING."

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Distribution of products is unquestionably improving. Transactions are on the whole larger than a year ago in spite of depression at the South, being very much larger at the West. Nor is improvement confined to that section, though generally there; it is also more distinctly felt in Eastern cities, and there are no wanting signs that trade at the South, though still much embarrassed by the low price of cotton, is steadily gaining. With all the great industries active, with money abundant in spite of gold exports, and with speculation kept in wholesome check, the outlook would seem to be unusually favorable, notwithstanding general complaints that prices are low and margins of profit unusually small.

THE SEPARATE COACH BILL.

The Frankfort Capile says: "The separate car bill is a wise idea, but there is a spring in the dining platform sleeping very soundly, casement come out of water quarters before the dresses, bloom, and be put to a square test vote. What the result will be none can say; what it ought to be there is no doubt. If it is not to become a law it was an unlucky day when it was introduced."

We believe the proposed law to be in the interest of peace and good order. It needs no arguments to prove that the two races do not get along well when confined within too narrow limits. In the interest of all this law is a just one. Certainly our record is bloody enough to cause our law-makers to throw every safeguard around us in order to prevent any further staining of the State's good name. The strongest argument used by the colored race why this law should not be done, viz.: "That the better class among them do not wish to be compelled to mingle with the depraved of their race" only becomes a stronger argument why our wives and daughters, when riding on a train, should not be exposed to insults and perhaps, as has happened, to violence at the hands of the vicious among the negroes. Give us separate coaches and many of the past troubles of traveling will be avoided, and the State saved much expense.

KENTUCKY AFTER HALF A MILLION.

Senator Carlisle introduced a bill to reimburse the State of Kentucky for arms, ordnance and ordnance stores issued to volunteers and militia organizations and U. S. ordnance officers and used in aiding to suppress the rebellion against the United States. Senator Carlisle was asked by a Commercial Gazette correspondent what would be the amount to be paid to Kentucky under this bill. Mr. Carlisle said he thought that it would range between five and six hundred thousand dollars. There had been an endeavor to settle the matter with the Treasury Department, but it had been dismissed, and Senator Carlisle thinks, inasmuch as other States have had similar refunds, Kentucky should not be left out.

HORSE AND TRACK.

Five trotters are expected to beat 2:08 this year.

Every stall at the Lexington fair ground is occupied by a trotter.

Allerton will spend the balance of his life at Independence.

Marvin has purchased a $12,000 residence at Meadville, Pa.

Fourteen of Nutwood's get have sold this year for $42,900, an average of $3,070.

Every man who is breeding trotters expects some time to raise a phenomenon.

Decrying the merits of your neighbor's animals will not build up the reputation of your own.

A sister to Direct will be bred to Stambou this year. She is owned by Joseph Outhwaite, of Cleveland.

A bay colt has been foaled at Palo Alto, by the great colt Advertiser, 2:16, out of Waxena, dam of Snail.

A great horse is like a great man. He will make opportunities in spite of circumstances, and make himself famous.

There are only two sons of Hambletonian 10 that rank above Aberdeen as sire of speed. They are Election and Geo. Wilkes.

Baby McKee, Worth, Election Bell and Palo Alto Bell, all by Election, recently sold at auction for $69,900, an average of $17,100.

It never pays to bid a horse in at a sale, as a decline in his value sets in from that hour, and keeps getting lower and lower as the week roll by.

The highest priced colt does not always make the fast trotter or the greatest sire. Blood lines minus individual excellence is not very far from a blank.

Senator Stanford says he looks for Palo Alto to lower the stallion record to 2:06 this year, and he has fillies that ought to trot close to Snail's 2:08.

Because a breeder thinks his stock worth big prices it does not follow that the public thinks so. And the public's estimate is generally the correct one.

L. L. Dorsey, of Louisville, has bought of Ben Johnson the stallion Earl, 2:23, for $6,000. Mr. Johnson paid $5,100 for the horse last week at Cleveland sale.

Uncle Jack Hood has challenged Ralph Wilkes for a race next October at Lexington, Ky., with his fast filly Annoreen. He wants it for $1,000 or $1,500 a side. He has no objection to P. A. Hamlin entering Chimes Girl.

Teach your colts to travel with their heads up—a low-headed horse is not attractive. But don't let them stand long checked up; always throw off the check or slacken it when you leave your horse standing. It is not the use, but the abuse, of the check-rein that does the damage.

St. Joseph, Mo., is coming into prominence on account of the importance of her horse interests. The Herald reported there which $150,000 could not buy, while $500,000 would be a low estimate of the value of all the trotting stock owned in the vicinity.

In an interview in New York recently Senator Stanford is reported to have expressed dissatisfaction at the price he received for the consignment of colts which he sold in the east. He attributes what he calls low prices to the fact that the youngsters were undeveloped, and he stated that in the future he will send nothing east but colts that have shown ability to go out and trot fast.

When an owner of a stallion three years old and over tells you that his horse has not been worked, that he prefers to wait until he is fully matured before developing him, when without a doubt he will be able to secure a very fast record, don't believe him, for he is not telling the truth. The horse can't trot and never will. "The fully matured system before being developed" is a thing of the past.

There is much rejoicing among the Palo Alto folks over the advent of two justly-looking colts that came into the equine world last Monday. They are both by Palo Alto, the King. One is out of that great matron, Beautiful, the "queen of matrons," the other is out of Elaine, 2:30, the famous dam of Norisine, 2:34; the

This horrible story comes from Mexico: Among the Indians near Chilimahua the belief in witchcraft is general and for a number of years an old woman has held the Indians of that locality in great fear by her alleged powers over life and death, and was accused of eating young children. When the woman was known to be away from her house, a party of men went there and found horrible evidences that she had indulged in eating children's flesh. There were not only the bones to be seen, but a party eaten child was also found. When she returned she was burned at the stake, and the people ate small parties of her body, in order to keep off any evils that might befall them for killing her.

Things Told by Others.

The Spirit of the Farm says that the Leghorns stand far above all other breeds in the egg producing class.

Texas Farm and Ranch says a crop of corn can be grown and converted into bacon and lard in from eight to ten months.

Upon good soil ultrate of soda gives good results in Tomato culture at Cornell, at the New Jersey station and at the Maryland station.

The Mark Lane Express says that the ewe and the lamb both require hay—good hay. It is almost impossible to fatten lambs without good hay.

Some Asparagus growers claim that an improvement of 50 per cent, can be made in the asparagus bed by selecting two-year-old plants that bear no seed. These are males, and the shoots from them will be earlier and larger.

Talk From a Horse.

Don't ask me to "back" with blinds on. I am afraid to.

Don't lead me to some blockhead that has less sense than I have.

Don't think because I am a horse that iron weeds and briars won't hurt my hay.

Don't be so careless of my harness as to find a great sore on me before you attend to it.

Don't run me down a steep hill, for if anything should give way I might break your neck.

Don't whip me when I get frightened along the road, or I will expect it next time and maybe make trouble.

Don't think because I go free under the whip I don't get tired. You would wake up if under the whip.

Don't pull on my blind bridle so that it irritates my eyes, or so leaves my forelock that it will be in my eyes.

Don't hitch me to an iron post or railing when the mercury is below freezing. I used the skin on my tongue.

Don't keep my stable very dark, for when I go out into the light my eyes are injured, especially if snow be on the ground.

Don't leave me hitched in my stall at night with a big cob right where I must lie down. I am tired and can't select a smooth place.

Don't forget to file my teeth when they get jagged and I cannot chew my food. When I get lean it is a sign my teeth want filing.

Don't say whosil unless you mean it. It may cheek me if the lines break and save a runaway and smash-up.

Don't forget the old book, that is a friend of all the oppressed, that says "A merciful man is merciful to his beast."

Don't make me drink ice cold water, nor put a frosty bit in my mouth. Warm the bit by holding a half-mustard against my body.

Don't compel me to eat more salt than I want by mixing it with my oats. I know better than any other animal how much I need.

Don't trot me up hill, for I have to carry you and the buggy and myself, too. Try it yourself sometime. Run up hill with a big load.—Courier-Journal.

Horse of Value.

A boar was on exhibition at some of the Southern fair last fall which weighed over 1,500 pounds. Some idiot said it was worth $5,000. For practical purposes it was worth nothing. What we want now are hogs that will make moderate weights, and make them quick; that will grow up in 20 pounds or something over in a few months; give sholar hams of 14 or 16 pounds each, and lean breakfast bacon. Such hogs are worth $5,000—when you get enough of them.—Texas Live Stock Journal.

Horticultural Notes.

Don't crowd your fruit trees. Give room for air and sunshine.

In setting out an orchard, keep together all of the same variety.

A little salt on fruit before drying retards oxidation and discoloration.

Apply manure broadcast or the roots will soon grow beyond the reach of it.

A dead limb is a source of disease; it also shows lack of vitality in the tree.

In considering the value of a fertilizer, give it credit for feeding future crops.

One good soaking of the soil is better for the plant than a dozen sprinklings.

Pears are best when picked and ripened in the dark, covered from the sun.

The soil of an orchard plowed in the fall will freeze deeper than if not plowed.

It is not the plant but the soil that needs the fertilizer for the plant to feed on.

A tree with an open head is not as likely to be attacked with mildew as one that is crowded.

If apple trees have a rich soil and do not overbear, why should they not bear a crop every year.

Plants do not need change of soil or climate so much as they do the presence of the proper foods in the soil.

Plant the seeds of good fruit; if they do not reproduce the same fruit they may produce that which is equally valuable.

A writer in an eastern exchange says that the spores of rust and other like fungi parasites on trees are scattered in great part by the falling leaves, which are blown in all directions.

The cold weather in January and February is said to have killed part of the fruit in Illinois. About three-fourths of the peaches are killed. Apples and strawberries were also injured.

Why should the kitchen garden be neglected, when it is probably the best paying piece of ground on the farm? It not only gives cash return for the work bestowed upon it, but it gives positive pleasure to the man that does the work, provided that the garden be not too large.

Cleanings.

Some of the best butter-makers never use soap in cleaning the churn and other dairy utensils. They use tepid, warm and scalding water to the order given.

Warmth and moisture, so necessary to the growth of cucumbers under glass, also favor the development of mildew. The two most common varieties are the downy and powdery mildews, the former attacking outdoor only in greenhouse culture. As a preventive use the vapor of sulphur; not the fumes of burning sulphur.

Apples grown in grass ground will keep longer than the same fruit grown on cultivated land. Late keeping varieties therefore, should always be grown in grass lands.

There must be a particularly hot spot in the earth under Wheeling, W. Va. It is hoped to sink the well now being driven there at least a mile. The well is a little less than five inches in diameter. Its peculiarity is that no vein of water has been tapped, and being perfectly dry, scientific men have an unexampled opportunity to conduct their investigations. The temperature is being taken at various depths. At a depth of 1350 feet the temperature is 65 degrees; at 2375 feet, 79 degrees; at 3375 feet, 92 degrees; at 4375 feet, 108 degrees; and at 4462 feet it is 111 degrees. Thus the temperature is increasing faster and faster the deeper the boring. For instance, the increase in the 1000 feet from 2375 to 3375 feet is about 13 degrees, while the increase in the next 1000 feet is more than 16 degrees. If the heat goes on increasing in similar progression, a depth will be reached before long where every solid substance will be melted. That, however, will be no indication that the same state of things exists everywhere under the earth's crust, for wells driven in other parts of the world have shown very different rates in the increase of heat, says the New York Sun.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. A purer medicine does not exist, and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the liver and kidneys, will remove pimples, boils, salt rheums and other afflictions caused by impure blood. FURNITURE.

I AM in it to win, and will do it by handling only the best make of goods and selling at a small profit. The time is off for success in a small business with large profits. BUSINESS MEN can only hope to attain success, in this day of progress, by many sales, each article bearing a small profit; and then, every customer must be treated alike. How unfair it is to sell to one man at a certain price, and because his neighbor is a little closer, to sell him for less money. It is not right. My stock of FURNITURE is entirely NEW, not a piece of old stock. It has been purchased for the cash, it is in my store less all discounts. Buying my entire stock at once, by car-load shipments, I am save considerable freight expense, and by these methods my stock is put in the store much cheaper than when small orders are made, hence I can sell at VERY CLOSE FIGURES, saving money to my customers and making some for myself. Goods which I have subjected to very low prices:

BED ROOM SUITS, DINING-ROOM FURNITURE, PARLOR SUITS, FOLDING BEDS, WARDROBES, BOOK-CASES, SIDE-BOARDS, ETC.

I also keep a complete line of CASKETS in my Undertaking Department, and, having graduated in this business, in offering my services it is with the confidence that I understand the business and can give satisfaction.

"All evidence," replied the ex-president, "of what the people want and what they expect of the party would seem clearly to indicate that tariff reform must be the issue if we are to go into a winning fight."

"What do you consider the best plan of attacking the tariff in Congress?"

"My idea has been that a general bill would be the best method, but I am willing to defer to those who are on the ground and who have the battle in Congress to fight. I hope the Springer free wool bill will pass, and am also in favor of any other measure which will lighten the burden of taxation now resting upon the people. In fact, I favor any measure in the direction of genuine tariff reform."

"What are the prospects of the Democratic party's ultimate success?"

"I have but one opinion on that subject. If the party is true to its principles and fulfills its pledge to the people it cannot fail." —

Statistics of the Census Bureau show that in 1889 Kentucky produced 93,771 per cent. of all the hemp grown in the United States. What a pity Kentucky cannot use the hemp as well as she can raise it. A free use of the hemp would largely tend to diminish the large crop of murderers that now stain her otherwise fair name.

The spring exodus from Eastern Kentucky has begun. A few days since a party of sixty persons left Wolfe and Morgan counties for Texas. Among them were the following gentlemen and their families from Wolfe: David Hogg, Isaac Elkins, S. P. Napier, Mr. and Mrs. Cockerham, Jr., James Tutt and W. F. Moore, editor of the Bluegrass Blade, at Springfield, Scott county, a few days ago, have been indicted by the grand jury of Scott county, under the Kukluk act. Their names are William Remington, of the Kentuckian Club; Frank Lowry, agent of the United States Express; Bush Hart, hotel clerk, and Geo. W. Judy, City Collector. This is probably a mistake, as at last accounts the grand jury had not returned any such indictment."

We wish we could make words by which we could make known to our readers the elegant stock of furniture handled by A. H. Welsh & Son, No. 4 Main street Lexington, Ky. The people generally would know more of them than their stock, and desiring that men were shod on the first purchase they would naturally sleep in and see them, but this one thing is favorable, when a customer goes upstairs he means something he wants to buy. But we desire to say something of their stock, and more, something of the men. It is a fact beyond dispute that they handle only the best goods, we do not mean such furniture as is often made of inferior material and covered with paints, oils and varnishes they are too sharp for this, and the furniture as some of best people here will testify is No. 1 throughout, and the prices at which they are held being at least equal per cent. cheaper than those asked by competitors in the same city, is proof of their shrewdness and business capacity. Their store-rooms, the second and third floors, are literally crowded with the most highly goods. They have a specialty, and it is furniture exclusive, and this they study and watch as close as their bank account. As to the members of this firm we could make this statement which ought to satisfy and be a recommendation second to none; that no man could succeed as they have without possessing merit and the confidence of the people. That our readers may know more of this firm we would ask them to call at No. 44 Main street, get acquainted with these genial gentlemen and see something of their stock.

Miss Agnes Herndon, who appears at the C. S. Pease House on the evening of March 17th, in her beautiful play "A Woman's Revenge" (La Belle Marie) has surprised herself with an excellent support; she, in her dual role of Jean, the maid, and Marie, the demented of vengeance, stands alone in the sun after a summer shower. The play of "A Woman's Revenge," is one that will live for ages, and each time it is presented have the audiences held in suspense.

The scene of the play is set in a great American actress' room of the day, but her play is not only moral in itself, but has a character in it that will amaze, sick, in all our great cities, and again, alas, it is done away as it is done by Miss Herndon as a good-egg company.

THE ADVOCATE.

Annotated Steamboatman Dead.

Capt. Timothy Meader, a venerable steamboatman, is dead at Mobile, Ala., aged seventy-nine years. He was for many years identified with business on the Alabama, and Tombigbee rivers, in the palmy days of steamboating.

He was noted as the importer of the last cargo of slaves brought to the United States. This was in the spring of 1861. He chartered the schooner Clodite, which brought 100 negroes, and managed to spirit them into a can break 100 miles up stream. The news of the importation soon got abroad and Meader was arrested and tried, but proved that he had made every trip on his boat, the Toney, and the inference was that he had not had time to receive the negroes and personally superintended the hiding of them.

He was discharged. If convicted, he would have suffered the death penalty. The thirty negroes that fell to his share he settled in a suburb of that city, where, being freed shortly after their arrival, they and their descendants have remained.

They have never associated with other negroes, but are partially civilized, still retain native language and are ruled by a Queen of their own choosing. They enjoy a good reputation for industry and honesty, and their colony is one of the curiosities visited by sightseers.

In 1860, Hambletonian 10 commanded a service fee of $500, and shrewd business men wrung their hands at the exorbitancy of such a price. Ethan Allen was the second to enter the $500 list, and now the service fee of Arion, grandson of Hambletonian 10, $2,500. If, as Mr. Williams day by day for $500, will offer a companion prediction, that about that same time some horse (it may be a grandson of Arion and Nancy Hawks), record 2:30, will command a fee of $5,000, limited to ten choice mares, as after July 1 he will be put in training to jockey his record. There are men who would be glad to give $1,000 to see the horse that stops the watch at two minutes.—Horse Breeder.

It looks to us as if the Republicans are a great deal more anxious lest the Democrats should not give that proneness to Free Silver that the g. o. p. would like to see given to it, than are the Democrats themselves. We do not blame them for preparing to make silver the issue and shove the tariff. The latter is an issue they know is fatal to them.

Mr. Ingalls no longer, it is said, feels any desire to return to the life and wife of Congress. He finds the lecture held more remunerative than he had expected.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Only let the Kansas Farmers Alliance go to sleep and allow the old-time Republicans to have an election for U. S. Senator on hand, the iridescent statesman will have still another change of heart. Some years since a gentleman, now dead, wrote something about a fox and the grapes.

Java is said to be the region of the globe where it thunders oftener, having thunderstorms on ninety-seven days in the year. After it are Sumatra, with eighty-six days; Hindustan, with fifty-six; Bonoe, with fifty-four; the Gold Coast, with fifty-two; and Rio de Janeiro, with fifty-one. In Europe, Italy occupies the first place, with thirty-eight days of thunder, while France and southern Russia have sixteen days, Great Britain and Switzerland seven days, and Norway only four days. Thunder is rare at Cairo, being heard on only three days in the year; and is extremely rare in northern Turkistan and the popular regions. The northern limit of the region of thunder storms passes by Cape Ogle, Iceland, Nova Zembla, and the coast of the Siberian Sea.

The great problem is to check the increase of population in the cities, which makes morality and decency almost impossible. As long as that exists, charities cannot do their full work, nor do it effectively. We may establish numberless fresh-air funds, yet the children continue to live and die like rats in a sewer.... If we would keep people away from the towns, we must make life in the country less burdensome, and work in the country more remunerative.—Bolton Hall.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. Then pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; so continued to use it and is today enjoying good health. If you have any throat, lung or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at W. S. Lloyd's drug store.

Areas for Chimneys.

The old rule for chimneys was that they ought to have the flue tapered at the top, on the theory that, as the hot gases in them ascended, they cooled, and, in cooling, contracted; and that it was important to reduce the size of the flue in proportion to the reduction in volume of the gases, as otherwise cold air from the top would descend to fill the vacancy left by the contraction of the gases, and the draught would be checked. Reasonable as this theory seemed, practice has shown that cylindrical boiler or furnace flues are at least as good as the tapered ones, and within a few years practical engineers and architects of experience in such matters have inclined to make them slightly larger at the top than the bottom, the increase in diameter being, perhaps, half an inch to ten or twelve feet.

Recently, a Swiss engineer has made experiments to see whether the facts bear out the old rule or support the more modern practice. To make the test, he built a chimney over a furnace grate, the stack having two flues. One flue tapered upward and the other downward, and the flues opened side by side over the grate, with openings of the same size. On lighting a fire on the grate, with unlimited access of air under it, the smoke was seen to issue nearly equally from the top of both the flues, but with an unmistakable preponderance in favor of the flue which enlarged toward the top. On partially shutting off the access of air to the fire, the difference became much more marked; the result in the flue tapering upward diminished, and finally stopped altogether, the smoke finding its way entirely through the flue with the wider top.—The Builder and Decorator.

Here it is, and fills the bill much better than anything we could say: "It gives me the greatest pleasure to write you in regard to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. During the past winter I have sold more of it than any other kind, and have yet to find any one but what was benefited by taking it. I have never had any medicine in my store that gave such universal satisfaction." J. M. RONEY, Druggist, Gueda Springs, Kansas.

Evolution is busy with American shipping. The past decade has seen changes and expansions that would have seemed impossible a score of years ago, and the last decade of the century is certain to witness changes even greater and of more importance. The coasting schooner has developed into a vessel of four masts and of a tonnage equal to that of the ship ten years ago, while the ship is now expanding into a noble four-masted vessel of a tonnage that would certainly seem to be very near the limit. American commerce, both coastwise and foreign, has not yet approached the zenith of its prosperity.

There is now in process of construction in Bath, Maine, what will be the largest sailing ship of the world. This vessel, to be several hundred tons larger than the La France, the present queen of the seas, will be launched early in next summer. The name will be Roanoke, the tonnage 4,000, carrying capacity 5,500, the cost $175,000. The frame is wholly of oak. The length of the keel is 306 feet, the breadth 49 feet, and the depth 29 feet. Two smaller four-masted ships have preceded this monster, the Sheandoah, cost $160,000, tonnage, 3,200; and the Susquehanna, cost, $140,000, tonnage, 2,744. Both have been built within the past two years.—Frank Leslie's Weekly.

"The death of your husband was a great loss to you," said Mr. Bunting to Mrs. Gasket, by way of condolence. "Oh, the loss was fully covered by insurance," replied the widow.
